

RECOGNITION FOR REMARKABLE TEAM

Monday 24th November, 2008: Queensland Education Entrepreneur, Marc Ratcliffe, celebrated a great year with his entire team from MRWED Training and Assessment at a Gala Dinner and Awards Ceremony held at Brisbane's Treasury Hotel and Casino on Wednesday night. The "ReMARCable Awards", as they are known, recognise and reward excellence within the organisation and allows Mr Ratcliffe to communicate his vision for the coming year. "I am very proud of the team we have at MRWED and it was great to be able to acknowledge the contribution made by both our trainers and our administration staff". Marc started his business in 2000, now eight years later MRWED Training and Assessment boasts more than 11,000 students in trainer training and is one of Australia's leading providers of the nationally recognised Certificate IV in Training and Assessment. Along with the domestic achievements the training organisation is now taking Australian education standards to the world with courses being offered in India, Indonesia, Singapore and Tanzania. Mr Ratcliffe said. "It has been very satisfying that in a year where markets have been volatile and consumer confidence dented, the team at MRWED have continued to hit our milestones through a committed approach to customer service and determination to succeed" he said. Among its success in 2008, MRWED was named a state finalist for Training Provider of the Year at the Queensland Training Awards and were included in the prestigious Q400 list for a second consecutive year. Mr Ratcliffe is looking forward to an "exciting year ahead with new international projects planned in China for 2009".
